Woman Confesses Murder

Hillcrest is Scene of Latest Tragedy

What is probably one of the most gruesome and mystifying murders in police annals of Western Canada came to light on Tuesday morning last as a result of a confession made by a woman named Mary Gioia, wife of an Italian miner, who gave herself up to the police, stating that she had killed her brother-in-law, Sam Gioia, a man of about forty years of age.

According to the woman's statement to the police, she committed the crime on the 25th of July when in a fit of frenzy following an attempt made by the victim to indecently assault her, but that statement is not Bellevue who deposed having generally accepted and some interesting developments are expected from the coroner's inquest now being held.

The police, following her directions, went to the house and on entering found the body laying on a bed covered with sheets and pillows.

Constable Moriarty, called, stated that on the morning of Tuesday a woman approached him, asking: "Are you the judge?" He replied: "No, I am a police officer."

She said she wanted to give herself up to the court, that she had killed her husband's brother.

He took her into custody and reported to Sergeant Scott.

Mariola Gioia stated that Sam Gioia had boarded at her house for about a year and she always knew him as a brave man.

He used to visit Nicola Gioia often. Sam Gioia died just as his brother returned. She claimed that all Nicola's wife had said was that he had been beaten, but had gone out.

Carmella Ferana stated that Sam Villa had walked into the house and told her to go home and cook meals.

He said she was impudent. Mary Gioia said no one but cousins could come into the house, that her husband had beaten her.

Carmella asked for Sam Gioia, but got no satisfaction.

Sophia Lapresta, came down from Michel on hearing that the Gioias were in a new religion. She went to Gioia's home on Tuesday and asked him if he was married and met with "No! Not now, but in an hour." She went the evening of July 25th and found to the body. It was 29 past two. See Sam lying on the floor and his wife went back at 29 past three and was was acting crazy. His wife's face admitted and set next door. She asked was all over black from fighting. His wife where Mary Gioia was, and Sam, his brother was shivering.

Asked why he did not report Sam's death, Nicola stated that he was afraid, because his wife had threatened if he went out to report he would come back to find her dead.

Mrs. Sam Villa knew Nicola and Mary and Sam Gioia. Nicola and Mary stayed at her house for four days and she did not know why and did not know that Sam Gioia had been hurt.

Sergeant Scott, of the A. P. Police, told him the body and it was in a very bad state of decomposition. Was advised by Const. Moriarty that woman had given herself up and confessed to killing her brother-in-law. Before entering house he noticed flies and train, while Nicola Gioia and Sam Villa were escorted to Lethbridge.

Throughout the proceedings yesterday Nicola Gioia seemed very little disturbed, while the actions of Villa drew particular attention from the audience. Villa claims to be crazy and made almost futile efforts to cry during the proceedings.

Villa and Nicola Gioia had recently visited Rocky Mountain House, where they became converts to a new religion. No one seems to understand just what that belief is, but it is said that they are to take some form of degree to see God, and then come back.

Mrs. Mary Gioia is but 78 pounds weight while the victim was a man of about 165 pounds.

Sam Gioia (or Joy) was about forty years of age and a member in good standing of the Italian Masonic and I. O. O. F. lodges of Corbin, B.C.

The verdict to be returned on Wednesday next by the jury will be looked forward to with interest.

Corporal Lidson, of Claremont, was in attendance at the coroner's inquest at Hillcrest on Wednesday.

In the East, skirts have dropped, stockings have risen, wrist watches have come to the front and the ladies have quit equaling for the lower edge of mamma's wearing apparel. Life in the East now seems worth living, although in some respects not nearly so interesting.

Winnipeg, July 5th, 19—

I am back in Winnipeg again, with Mrs. Arnold to mother me. Mr. Arnold to father me, and Mr. Eliot to teach me all about my manners and morals. The strong-minded and aggressively independent Elinor is rather glad to have much as she is allowed.

Mrs. Fiske and Gypsy brought me in to the train yesterday afternoon. Gypsy, I know, was sorry to see me go, and I am tempted to believe that Mrs. Fiske was equally sorry to see Mr. Miller for a few minutes; I could not leave Elsie without saying goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Hartford.

The train was half an hour late, but the "old inhabitant" assures me that in the winter the train becomes later each day, until at regular intervals it is on time because exactly twenty-four hours late.

I had scarcely settled myself when a man rose from the opposite end of the coach and came over to where I sat.

"You're Miss Eliot, ain't you?" he asked, raising his hat awkwardly. "My name is Brown, Jerry Brown of Brownsville, Saskatchewan. I used to live there, but just now I am home to see Mother. I was at the picnic on Friday, and I seen you with the Fisks and the Liverstones, but never got around to speak to you. I hope you will excuse me if you say I will be a nuisance." You English ladies ain't much travelling alone, I guess, and there's some tough characters back and forth on this line."

By this time Jerry Brown of Brownsville, so boyish and embarrassed that his coat was settling when I thanked him for his knightly courtesy—not in those words, of course—and after falling over my bag

Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R.R. No. 1, Seeley's Bay, Ont., writes:

"For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like a certain food. I tried many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything else. After a while I highly recommended them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney trouble."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25¢ a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

and apologizing profusely he threw his hat in the rack, set down in the other half of my position and proceeded to tell me the story.

"Never travel swiftly in the Elba district, apparently for some casual remark that Mrs. Brown let fall, so far as it relates to my stay in Elba is fairly well known to him. He was very frank about his own affairs, told me in the first half-hour that this place had been his home fifteen years ago, and that with his five small children she had come West and taken up a homestead. He did not say very much about his wife, but when I asked him if he did tell me that last winter he took his mother "back East" among her folks and gave her a rattling good time.

He chuckled. "You should have seen Mother at a picture show. I took her to the wild west. We went to a round dance, and she liked it, though she did pretend to be shocked. What troubled her most was the cowgirl with red poppies in her hair, and she wanted to stop the night I saw off on my honour that there weren't no cowgirls round about Brownsville. You know what kind of place it is."

At this interesting point the new-boy came along, crying his wares.

"Winnipeg Free Press, Tribune, and Telegram! All about the big fire in a shoe factory—five hundred souls lost!"

"Were the uppers burned too?" asked Mr. Brown, looking appreciatively.

"Say, son," queried my escort, "have you got anything good to eat?"

"Peanuts, popcorn, chewing-gum, and caramels. Regular price twenty-five cents."

"Guess I'll have some gum," said Mr. Brown. "I've been telling the old woman to this morning, 'I'm a lady, and it's dry work.' Then he turned to me, 'You don't chew, I suppose?'

"No, no," I replied, "but don't let me keep you from it."

So he bought a package of gum for himself and peanuts, papers and a magazine for me. Talk about American journalism, that magazine was bursting sponge!

Mary met me at the station and did not show the surprise she must have felt when I introduced Mr. Brown to her, and it's dry work," the Canadian announced as he picked up his bag.

"What did you say your address was?"

"I didn't say that I no much had an address, but Mary innocently broke in with, "314 College Avenue, Elinor never remembers numbers, so it's lucky that I am here to tell you where to find it."

I could have shaken her, but of course she did not know at that time who Mr. Brown had happened to be.

After a long talk, and a long night in the privacy of my bedroom, she threw herself face down on the bed and laughed until I began to think that she was hysterical.

"I can't say anything so funny," I objected at last.

"Elinor," she said, when she could speak without laughing, "I should never have expected you of such a thing. To think that any well-bred English girl would openly encourage a misguided youth!" I retorted.

"It's thirty-seven," he told me again. "Well, young or old, he has мати eyes or I'm no judge. His poor trusting mother and I was so sure that he was safe from all designing creatures."

Because of the political and religious unrest in Ireland, which has brought practically the whole flax industry there to a standstill, three manufacturers of Armagh, Ireland—Joseph Marshall David McClelland and R. R. Loudon—have come over to Canada with a view to an investigation that may duplicate Ireland's flax industry in the Dominion.

Roman Relics Found in Paris
Read at Gently Diverted to Preserves Concrete Conduit

In two parts of Paris interesting archaeological finds have been made during the last few days.

At Genilly, where a new road was being made, a Roman road perfectly preserved, and solidly built of concrete, was found. It had been used to carry water to a Roman thermal palace in the grounds of Cluny Abbey and its strength is so great that it has been decided that it would be costly to destroy it. Hence the new road is to be diverted alongside it.

The second discovery is a Merovingian (Frankish, 500-750 A.D.) tomb at St. Marcel, which had the two road menders on the site of the ancient Abbey of St. Marcel. The tomb contained a perfectly preserved skeleton.

THE REASON WHY ANAEMIA PREVAILS

The Strenuous Conditions of Life To-day Responsible

Mothers who remark that girls today are more prone to anaemia than the girls of a generation ago, should blame themselves, for it is to them which they and their companions live in. They would easily see the reason in their altered circumstances to-day. Nowhere is there more strenuousness than among numerous students who are a severe tax upon the strength. Also, girls enter business soon after leaving school—at an age when they have neither rest nor time for life. Their womanly development is hampered by the stress of working hours, and other scenes of life. Girls are less liable to bloodlessness than boys, but there is this consolation that this condition is now more easily remedied than in the years past. Such medicines as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills help thousands of weak, anaemic girls and women, simply because they contain the elements necessary to good health, which means good health and vitality.

This is proved by the statement of Miss Eldore Acker, Lake Pleasant, N.Y., who says:—"I am glad it is now possible to bring girls with my experience with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was very much run down, my face was pale and there was dark streaks around my eyes. My appetite was bad, and I had no ambition to do anything or go about. I had once before been helped by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I did not try them again until I was ill again. I proved a wise decision, for in less than a week I felt in every way better; has helped me a great deal in my teaching, and I can work with more energy. Naturally I think there is no better medicine for young girls than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Now you can purchase Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent to you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Interesting House in London Building Only Three Feet Wide Has Two Rooms

How would you like to live in a little dream house only 3 feet wide, once occupied by a picturesque dwarf with wrinkled face and a long white beard?

You would never guess where it is. It is not tucked away in a corner of the Welsh mountains, nor does it nestle near the parish of a remote country village.

It is in London—and that is probably why very few Londoners know of it.

No. 10, Hyde Park Place, Bayswater Road—it sounds like a magnificent West End mansion, but it is just a doll's house.

No one seems to know when it was built, or why. One gets the impression that once upon a time its neighbors on either side enjoyed the proud distinction of being semi-detached, and that little No. 10 came and wedged itself in between them and closed up the 3 ft. 7 in. passage with its sturdy front door.

But No. 10 seems older than its neighbors, so perhaps that explanation is wrong.

This house of the dwarf has two long narrow rooms, one on the ground floor and one above. The front door has a tiny bell-knocker, but there is a letter-box through which no letters ever go, for the dwarf's house is unoccupied and has had no tenant for years.

It is said to be unsuitable for human occupation. It has no water and no gas, but people did live in it in the long ago.

Even now it is well cared for. The window over the front door nicely curtained, and there is a box of tulips on the sill. The window commands a magnificent view of Hyde Park.

Although it is so narrow that a fat man would have to get in sideways, many people, both fat and thin, have endeavored to persuade the owner to let them live in it.

But this has proved unsuccessful. The little house will never be a home again. It is destined to remain tenanted—people only by the shades of departed days.

And the dwarf? Those who know say the dwarf story is a myth that there never was a dwarf.

But it does no harm to think there was, and it makes the smallest house in London much more interesting.

The List of the Missing
Search for Missing Veterans During Peace Time

There is no stronger proof of the effects of the Great War upon those who were active participants than the never-ending list of ex-service men recorded as missing in peace-time.

The most general cases are those of men whose minds become blank—temporarily in most instances.

Others become touched with wanderlust, while some of the missing were undoubtedly victims of fatal attacks.

The information department of the Dominion Command, G.W.V.A., has no record of any missing men, but it is small compared with other branches of the association's work but the sum total of re-unions ensuing from these efforts, reconciliations effected and information gleaned for procedures can best be measured in terms of human happiness.

The general method of procedure is first to circulate all commands and branches of the G.W.V.A.; notification of other agencies with whom the individual might come in contact; publication of particulars in "The Veteran," the official organ of the association; news item in veteran organizations in other countries are notified, including The American Legion in the United States, the V.A. in Canada, Newfoundland, The British Legion in Great Britain (as well as the branches of the G.W.V.A.); the Returned Sailors' and Soldiers' Imperial League of Australia; Associations in New Zealand, South Africa, India and other British dependencies; France, Belgium and Italy. The extent of the search depends upon the circumstances surrounding the veteran who has disappeared.

For Western Harvest
It is expected that the demand of the harvest fields in Western Canada will exceed that of the previous year. Last year the number of men from the east was 30,000. This year it is predicted by railway officials that probably around 50,000 extra men will be required to harvest the big crops, for which there is every promise.

Mr. Black declared that the lumber trade of Canada was being steadily raised by forest fires.

The annual plague of burning forests constitutes the heaviest income tax that the ordinary citizen has to face. It cannot be too often stressed that every forest must be paid for.

The people of Canada own eighty-five per cent of the forest lands in the Dominion and for every dollar that a private owner loses through fire, the workman, and the merchant and government treasury sacrifices at least four, he stated.

Loss From Forest Fires
Timber Destroyed This Year Could Have Provided 100,000 Homes

As a national disaster the loss of the Parliament Buildings by fire was trifling compared with the season's devastation of Canadian forests, Robert Black, manager of the Canadian Forestry Association, stated.

"On a conservative estimate," he added, "the Dominion's forest fire losses this year so far have robbed the people of more timber than would be sufficient to build 100,000 comfortable homes."

Another Belief Attacked

Dentist Says White Bread Harms Teeth More Than Sweets.

Another of the beliefs generally known as "popular fallacies" has been attacked by a member of the Federated Contingent Association, who has shown that the eating of sweets does not bad for children's teeth. He called to witness the children of the sugar plantation, who, constantly chewing sugar cane, have the finest teeth in the world.

The point was submitted to a well-known London dentist by the London Sunday Pictorial.

He said: "Of course, sweets do not injure the teeth of the children any more than other foods containing carbo-hydrates.

"It is a simple fact that soft white bread has an infinitely more deleterious effect upon the teeth than sweets.

"The action involved in teeth decay is chemical action. The carbo-hydrates act as food for bacteria.

"The moral indicated is a simple one. By all means let the children eat pure sweets, but see to it that the use of the toothbrush is not neglected."

DIARRHOEA IS DANGEROUS TO Teething Babies DURING HOT WEATHER

Hot weather is a dangerous time for babies when cutting their teeth and all mothers should watch very closely for any sign of diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera, infantile or any other bowel complaint.

There is no remedy so safe and effectual for diarrhoea as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and all mothers who have babies speak of it with the greatest of confidence.

Mrs. James E. Green, Vermilion, Alta., writes under date of Aug. 18th, 1914: "A dear friend of mine, a baby boy, just one year and four months old, started cutting two stomach teeth, and was sick he couldn't eat or sleep. She took Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, regularly for three days, and the baby was well again. I wouldn't be without your grand remedy for untold gold."

"Dr. Fowler's" is for sale at all dealers; price, 50¢ a bottle; pack by Dr. T. M. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CANADIANIZING CANADA

Travel is one of the greatest elements in education and is one of the fundamentals of good citizenship. The desire to know one's own country should be inculcated in the system of every Canadian and to obtain any adequate knowledge, how can it be acquired better than by travel? "Canadians, See Canada" and "See Canada First," etc., have been adopted as slogans in the endeavor to create in the minds of Canadians the advantages of National Travel and the attractions Canada has to offer.

The purpose of this article is not only to give expression to the importance of Canadians seeing Canada that they may have a fuller appreciation of what their own country has to offer them in the way of scenery and interest, but to emphasize particularly the value of tourist travel to the nation, and the duty we owe ourselves in developing our tourist territory so to speak to capitalize the scenery. Possibly no other country in the world gives up to its people a greater area of country for recreation purposes and these great playgrounds are not confined to any particular section but are spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Then again from the seashore resorts of the Atlantic and the lower St. Lawrence to the Pacific Coast the interests are so varied and so distinctly different from one another that our Canadian people may use their vacation for years and find new scenery and new interest annually. From the quiet beauty of the Maritime Provinces to the more rugged scenery of the Province of Quebec, the almost continuous lake and river country of northern Ontario, the Rocky Mountains so immense, beautiful and wonderful, on to the Pacific Coast one cannot imagine without personal vision and knowledge what a wonderful asset we have in our widespread playgrounds and national parks.

But to make the most of our wonderful heritages, to realize the fullest amount of profit, they must be developed. The Provincial and Dominion Governments must be keenly alive to what the possibilities are. Good roads to the wonder places and beauty spots are essential so that the way of the tourist may be made easy and attractive.

Much has been done by the railroads to advertise our tourist territory, which has resulted in millions of dollars being spent in Canada annually, principally by our neighbors to the south of us, but the fringe as yet has only been touched. The Canadian National Railways have just opened Jasper Park Lodge, in Jasper Park, that largest and most wonderful of all our National parks, 4,400 square miles of magnificent mountainous scenery. There wild life roams un molested and thousands of tourists from all parts of the globe will gladly assemble annually when the park is fully developed with good motor roads, and the system of lodges so auspiciously opened on June 15 last are extended through the park. Jasper Park is but one of many feature places to be developed. Mount Robson Park just fifty miles west from Jasper station is another. Aside from Mount Robson being the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies (13,683 feet), the park which is entirely within the province of British Columbia, is the Alpine Kingdom itself, but until such time as it is developed, the glory and majesty of its scenery is denied the tourist who does not choose to ride a cayuse.

By way of comparison it has been stated that tourist traffic in California alone nets approximately a hundred million dollars a year, and the more northern Pacific Coast States, Washington and Oregon, add fully half that amount to the total, where as it has been said that tourist traffic in Canada all told did not net beyond ten to twelve millions.

Again, the provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have all the advantages of the State of Maine, but comparatively little has been done to develop these. What this development may mean in a measure can be expressed by the fact that Maine last year reaped a harvest of over $40,000,000 in tourist business.

Our wonderful tourist territory is undoubtedly one of our largest assets and greatest heritages to be developed, and in the opinion of international travellers who have visited us, Canada possesses the finest aggregation of scenery in the world.—Ex.

A QUESTION OF LENGTH

A small woman travelling with her son—a boy very large for his age handed the conductor a half-fare ticket and a whole fare one. The conductor scrutinized the boy critically, and said:

"But, madam, I can't pass this boy on a half-fare ticket. He is very large and has on long pants."

"Very well," replied the woman "if that's the basis for your decision, use the whole ticket for him and the half for me."

BARNJUM ESSAYS ON PRACTICAL FORESTRY

Prizes have been awarded in the $1,000 Prize Essay contest on Practical Forestry offered by F. J. D. Barnjum as follows:

First Prize—$500.00 to P. Swanson, Timmins, Ontario.

Second Prize—$250.00 to M. Currie, Grand Mira South, Cape Breton.

Third Prize—$150.00 to Donald C. Oxley, Annadale, Queen Co., N. B.

Fourth Prize—$100.00 to R. M. Brown, Pincher Creek, Alta.

So many of these essays were of high order that the judges had a very difficult task in awarding these prizes, but inasmuch as the names and locations were detached from all essays before being submitted to the judges, the contestants have the assurance that no bias or favoritism entered into their decisions.

All these prize essays will be published in the press from time to time so that the public may have the benefit of the suggestions and recommendations contained in these valuable contributions to the cause of Forestry.

It is important for our government to know that 90 per cent of these 225 essays which have come from all over Canada, dating all the way from British Columbia to Cape Breton, call for an embargo or heavy export tax on all pulpwood shipped out of the country. Eighty per cent call for the permit system for all persons entering the woods, such as recently inaugurated in the Province of Quebec, and the same percentage asked for the electrification of all railways, as a means of reducing the fire risk in our forests and also as a means of reducing our heavy railway deficit.—Saturday Night.

TRYING

An old negro not long ago applied for membership in an extremely exclusive church in an eastern city. But the bishop of this refined congregation told the old man that his spiritual condition was not satisfactory and sent him home to pray.

After a few days the petitioner again sought the minister, and again the bishop said that he was dissatisfied and recommended the darkey to prayer. But the next day back came the old man, his face shining.

"Well," said the bishop, "How is it with you, Sambo?" "I'm alright, sir," answered the darkey. "I prayed to God, and the Lord said, 'Go ahead, Sambo, and good luck to you. I've been trying to git you into that church for twenty years myself!'" —The Era.

WHY CHIROPRACTIC CAN

BE CALLED A SCIENCE

One reason why chiropractors do not hesitate to say that chiropractic is a science is because it is based on the anatomy of the body, rather than its chemistry. The chemistry of the body is in a constant state of change, but the anatomy, though subject to slight (and often troublesome) changes in detail, never varies in general constructed. When the chiropractor takes a case he seeks to find the anatomical cause. He knows it will be located in the spine. The mechanical relation of one joint of the spine with another will be found disturbed. He is dealing with a condition—a fact—rather than a symptom. His correction is an adjustment, a mechanical restoration of the disturbed joints of the spine to their correct position.

The cause of hay-fever, enlarged tonsils, heart, stomach, liver, kidney and nervous disorders are all found in the spine and generally these respond readily to adjustments.

The Value of Dominion Forest Reserves

As the population of the Prairie Provinces increases the value to the settlers of the acres set aside as Dominion Forest Reserves becomes increasing evident. These forest reserves are areas of land suitable for growing trees but unsuited for ordinary agriculture. The resources of the reserves in the way of building timber, fuel, hay, and grazing, are held for the use of the whole community. Sometimes persons complain that they are not permitted to go in and get the timber as they desire, or to run in an extra bunch of cattle, or to cut hay without making arrangements. These complaints, it will be seen, are really the best kind of evidence that the Forestry Branch is holding the balance evenly among all the settlers of the district. If the first comers were allowed to cut timber or hay, or graze cattle as he liked, the timber and the grazing would soon be spoiled and there would be nothing of value left for anyone. The policy is to restrict the cutting to areas of matured timber so that the young growth may have a chance to come on to supply the future needs, and to prevent the destruction of the grazing by running too many cattle in any one district, and also to see that these benefits do not all go to a few individuals but are spread over all the settlement which that particular reserve ought to serve.

Spring Fever

Not exactly jazz —
Yet I want to sit
In the mornin' haze
An' just dream a bit.
Haven't got ambition
For a single thing —
Regular condition
Ev'r bloom'in' Spring.
Want to sleep at noon time
(Ought to work instead),
But along at moonlight
Hate to go to bed.
Find myself a stealin'
For a sunny spot —
Just that Sprungy feelin',
That is what I've got.
Like to set a wishin'
Per a pipin' hook,
Like to go a fishin'
In a meadow-brak.
With some fish devorin',
Underneath a tree —
Just the old Spring fever.
That's what's ailing me!

Shackleton's Warning

Great Explorer Said People Were Shirking Their Responsibilities

Henry Briggs, the English writer, had an interview with the late Sir Ernest Shackleton before the latter started on his last voyage, which he relates as follows:

"I once asked Shackleton to tell me how civilization struck him when he came back from his last expedition."

"Well, I'll tell you," he said. "Honesty, I think we are shirking our responsibilities. That's how it strikes me. Whenever I go it seems that people don't realize one of the most terrible facts of the war—the fact, I mean, that the flower of the world has gone."

"Remember the United States is the one nation left intact. There is Europe the high spirit and the faith and the enterprise of youth have been laid down as with a stroke of a knife. A fearful loss. And yet  He shrugged his shoulders."

"Well!" I asked.

"Oh, I don't want to be the least bit fanatical; but sometimes here in London it seems to me as if we're almost up against the writing-on-the-wall business." Bahahah, eh?"

"Take a little thing like this jazz mania. It's only a straw, I know. And just after the war ones could understand it—reaction, and that sort of thing. But now! In my lecture I show a moving picture of a sea elephant, you see its undulations in the water, the heaving up of a mass of tremendous energy just under the surface. I say to the people: 'The first time I saw a sea elephant was in south Georgia; the second time was in my room here in London.' They laugh."

"But there's a serious side to that remark. People here are not doing their duty. They're fooling when fooling is something worse than wrong. There's something to be done; something that ought to be done, and something that must be done at once if we're to mend the world properly; but is there any sign that the crisis is ever realized? I don't come across it myself."

"I should have thought the war would have drawn the nation closer together. I should have thought the needs of the country after such a visitation, would have given to the world a Nelsonic ring, a national umbrella."

"But I don't think that this is so."

"On the contrary, one feels that the central pull on conscience has ceased. People are openly quite selfish and frivolous. There's no 'one clear call' for the individual. It's a go-as-you-please scramble for self-indulgence."

"At any time such a spirit is dangerous; but after so great a war, and in a world so shaken up and impoverished as that which has survived from the war, such a spirit seems to invite calamity."

Dominion Lands Sold to Settlers

Statistics Relating to Land Sold in Alberta and Saskatchewan

A total of 12,763,040 acres has been sold to settlers in Alberta and Saskatchewan under the Dominion Lands Act, according to Hon. C. Stewart, Minister of the Interior. Of this acreage 1,156,738 has been patented and 693,134 acres are not yet patented. The amount paid in for lands pre-empted is $14,000,067, and there is yet undeveloped approximately $12,000,000. Purchased homesteads totalling 1,322,400 acres have been sold in the two provinces, on which the revenue was $3,240,550, and on which approximately $500,000 is yet unpaid.

Saskatchewan Game Laws

Appeal Made to Sportsmen to Protect Prairie Chickens by Moderation

An appeal to all sportsmen to protect the prairie chicken by exercising moderation in shooting grouse, where they are plentiful and voluntarily refraining from shooting them in districts where they are rare is made by Bradshaw, chief game guardian for the Saskatchewan Provincial Department of Agriculture, in a synopsis of the game laws for 1922 which has just been printed for general distribution.

Prairie chicken may be shot this year from October 1st to 31st, an extension of two weeks of the open season for this greater Saskatchewan game bird. October is also open season this year for ruffed grouse, commonly known as partridge. Sportsmen are also urged to cooperate with the department in seeking out the European grey or Hungarian partridge, which receives absolute protection while establishing itself in its extended range in the province. This excellent game bird has recently made its appearance at many points in Southwestern Saskatchewan.

The Game Branch has liberated a number of ruffed grouse (partridge) in the Cypress Hills, south of Maple Creek. "Although conditions seem ideal for the ruffed grouse in this locality there are no available records of it ever being found there," stated Mr. Bradshaw. "It is expected this experiment will prove successful and that the addition of this beneficial game bird to the local fauna will be of great value to the sportsmen and bird lovers of that district."

The bag limit for prairie chicken and partridge is 6 a day, and 30-in-a-day. The open season for ducks, geese and other water birds is the same as for upland birds, running from 15th to December 31st. The bag limit is 30 a day, 300 for the season.

The general public is reminded that it is unlawful to shoot game on encamped or cultivated property without permission; to hunt or trap on game preserves; to shoot between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise; to carry a loaded gun in or on, or discharge the same from a carriage, rig, wagon, automobile or other vehicle; to offer game of any kind or sale.

Repairing Farm Implements

Farmers Should Not Wait Until the Last Moment to Attend to Repairs

Mr. E. Oliver, secretary of statistics in the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, states that now is the time when all farmers of the province should examine their machinery and order whatever repairs may be found necessary from the implement companies. These repairs may be ordered for delivery at a future date and can be paid for on delivery.

The implement companies, as well as the Department of Agriculture, are anxious that this should be done in order to make sure that all necessary repairs are on hand before harvest or threshing begins. So many will be wanting repairs that by waiting to order until the last moment, some are certain to suffer from delay.

Farmers sometimes overlook the fact that the time of harvest and threshing is also the time that fruit shipments are coming from the coast, and express companies must give preference to perishable goods so that machinery repairs are necessarily delayed. By offering in good time the implement companies will be in a position to ascertain what the special demand will be and can assemble the required parts more easily.

"The department," says Mr. Oliver, "is very anxious that there should be no hindrance or unavoidable handicap this year, now that there is an exceptionally good prospect of a more than average harvest." For instance, there is no reason for a recurrence of the situation of a couple of years ago, when the implement companies were entirely out of blinder canvases. Just before harvest orders for canvases poured in from all sides and there was the utmost difficulty in filling them, with the result that many could not begin cutting when the grain was ready, and losses occurred which would have been unnecessary had orders been placed well in advance.

Co-operative Shippers

The total grain handled by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company from the commencement of the crop movement in the autumn of 1921 to May 31st, 1922, was 33,121,965 bushels. In addition one million and a half bushels were handled as "platform shipments." In the crop shipping season 1920-21 the total grain handled through the elevators of the company was 26,195,843 bushels.

Is Britain Decadent?

Dean of St. Paul's Has Wrong Idea of Present Generation

Is Britain decadent? The Very Reverend William Ralph Inge, Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, says that the British people are not what they used to be and that, because, what he calls the Atlantic era in commerce is about to be succeeded by a Pacific era, the English (even with the assistance of the Scotch and Welsh) will not be able to advance much longer. He quotes the Victorian poetry, the Victorian art, the Victorian statesmanship and the Victorian commercial progress, the like of which, he thinks, never will be seen again. He asks, where this age can show four such great men as Gladstone, Darwin, Manning and Tennyson; and can one at most hear him snort derisively when the London Daily Express suggests that Lloyd George, Baldwin, Wells and Kipling measure up to the Victorian standard. No, says the Dean, England is decadent and Englishmen are not the men they were three or four generations ago.

Well does the Very Reverend Doctor Inge deserve the appellation of "the Dean of Young England" when he finds him anything but a cheerful person and none the more cheerful for his advancing of his idea; not as things to be regretted, but as facts to be faced. American slang of today—or was it of yesterday?—would classify the Dean as a creaghanger, whose ideas were to be denounced, ignored or accepted according to individual temperament and what one thinks of him. The Dean, however, is faced with a fact, but as facts go, it is bad for the teeth. Celery, apples and other things that make you bite should be on the table every day.

"Now is milk good for the body in addition to ordinary food. It makes one fat, and a fat person cannot be healthy."

Another Opinion on Milk Diet

Noted British Physician Condems Lacteal Fluid as Food for Adults

"Is there any one subject today upon which doctors agree more?" asks a scientific paper commenting on the advice of Dr. Cecil Webb-Johnson, who has said: "Never drink milk; it is an unnatural diet save for the young."

Giving his reasons for this revolutionary opinion Dr. Webb-Johnson, a British specialist on diet, said to a questioner:

"We are the only animals in the world who drink milk after infancy. The domestic cat, it may be pointed out, drinks milk after it has grown up, but this is purely a domestic habit."

The idea has been handed down through generations that milk is a good thing to drink when you are ill.

I think it is the worst thing, and I never allow my patients to have it.

It causes constipation, halitosis, a bad temper, and it is bad for the teeth.

Celery, apples and other things that make you bite should be on the table every day.

"Now is milk good for the body in addition to ordinary food. It makes one fat, and a fat person cannot be healthy."

Placer Miners Make Big Pay

Searching for Gold in Bed of the Fraser River

Placer miners are going after gold on the bed of the Upper Fraser River and wearing diving suits to do it, according to reports reaching Vancouver from the interior of British Columbia. Two gangs of deep sea divers already are at work at Lillooet and at the confluence of the Chilcotin and Fraser Rivers. Each outfit, working a three-hour day in all, is said to be getting from $700 to $1,000 a day.

Some enthusiastic prospectors are claiming that if the Fraser could only be diverted for a hundred miles, Britain's war debt would be wiped off in six months with the gold which could be picked up in its bed by hand.

The use of the airplane in prospecting on mountain claims also has been tried with success.

British Firms Coming to Canada

As a result of the campaign initiated by the Department of Trade and Commerce in England, it is reported that at least four important British concerns have stated definitely that they will establish branch factories in Canada. One will establish a branch in the west, where its products will be mostly used, and the others will be divided between Ontario and Quebec. Other British firms are considering the advisability of branching out in Canada when trade conditions improve.

Improving Canadian Roads

According to a recent statement of A. W. Campbell, Dominion Commissioner of Highways, Canada already has 18,000 miles of main roads constructed, which will eventually be linked up with the Transcontinental Highway.

"Every kind of road in every part of Canada is to be improved," he states. "Great progress is being made in all sections of the country in road construction."

New Handicap

Just as the Afghan hillmen considered the British "sooty sports" when they employed aircraft to dislodge them from their mountain fastnesses in the campaign of 1919, so the Hottentots in Southwest Africa objected to the aerial disturbance that ejected him from a little plateau from which a handful could have held an army at bay. Native uprisings are poor business—for the natives these days.—Victoria Times.

Forest lands are cultivated in Sweden with as much care as if given to farms in America.

Peculiar Tribes in Burma

Are Objects of Interest During Creations in Many Parts of the Country

In Burma, the country east of India, and under the rule of Great Britain, there are some very unusual and interesting tribes known as Karen. They live in the hill country, halfway between Mandalay and Rangoon, the two principal cities of this Oriental province.

However, unless the traveller is of an adventurous turn of mind, and does not object to a hundred-mile climbing expedition, after he has left the railroad, he is not likely to see these strange people under their natural home conditions.

"But if he should be at Mindat during a Burmese or when the Vice-roy is making a visit, he could see the members of the Karen tribes, because during these celebrations, they are brought down from their mountain homes and exhibited as great objects of interest, because they are peculiar.

In some countries of the east a woman must be fat to be considered beautiful. In old China, the woman thought it not only correct but beautiful to bind their feet. In Java black teeth are very fashionable.

But in Burma, among the Karen, a long neck is the ambition of every woman. Her mother starts thinking about this when her daughter is a baby, and starts to accomplish this swan-like effect when the little tots are scarcely able to walk.

The method employed is a series of heavy brass rings which are set around the little finger. These are put around the child's neck, and as she grows, more rings are added, thus forcing her neck to lengthen out.

More rings are added year after year as the girl grows into womanhood. Twenty-one of these coils is the average worn, although twenty-five have been achieved.

The twenty-one-ring-collared woman is thought beautiful, but the twenty-five-fingered lady is considered a ravishing beauty among the Karen of Burma.—By Temple Manning.

Tested New Kinds of Grain

The Dominion Cerealist Describes Sixty-nine Recommended Sorts

Sixty-nine new varieties of grain have been tried out at the farms and stations of the Dominion Experimental Farms system. These are briefly described in Pamphlet No. 11, of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, by Dr. C. E. Saunders, the Dominion Cerealist. The varieties include three of winter wheat; fifteen of spring wheat, late and early ripening; twelve of oats, main crop sorts, early and hulls; varieties; seventeen of barley; six-row kinds; two row kinds; hooded kinds; and hulls; two of winter rye; two of emmer; and spelt; nine of feline; four of field beans; three of fax for seed; two of fax for fibre, and three of buckwheat. In addition, recommendations are given as to varieties best suited for the different provinces, thus greatly extending its value.

In his introduction, Dr. Saunders points out that while, as a rule, it is wise for growers to leave the testing of new varieties to the Government farms and stations, those who have a liking for the work will find it extremely interesting, though expensive. Apart from that, there will always be plenty of scope among recommended sorts for interesting comparative trials, and these can be made at little or no loss of time or money.

No recommendations are made by the Dominion Experimental Farms and Stations until after thorough and complete tests, and until the varieties have shown some superiority over the older and better-known ones. Not only is it necessary in order to secure profitable crops to obtain the fertilizer and tillage of the soil by rotation and the application of manure or lime, but thoroughly clean seed adapted both to the soil and climatic conditions of each farm—must be sown. Growers are therefore advised not only to study the pamphlet but also to consult as to the choice of varieties with the superintendent of the nearest Dominion Experimental Farm.

Binder Twine Figures

In the year 1921 there was a total of 38,566 tons of binder twine available for consumption in Canada, of which 16,176 tons were manufactured in Canada and the remainder imported. The value of the binder twine and rope manufactured in Canada last year was $5,297,142; exports $1,194,475. Imports were valued at $7,372,531, while the value of total available for Canadian consumption was $12,475,382.

Americans Coming to Canada

American citizens practically one-half of the 1,674 immigrants who have so far entered Canada this year, according to a Government report. The total is made up of the following: British, 4,528; United States, 8,019; other countries, 4,227.

Flax Development

Progress of Its Growth in Many Parts of the Country

Flax growing for fibre is developing in Canada. During the last few years, experiments have been carried on by the Dominion Experimental Farm to determine which districts in this country are suitable for flax culture. It has been proven, says the interim report for 1920-21, of the officer in charge of the Division of Economic Fibre Production, Mr. E. J. Hutchinson, that the fibre obtained from flax grown on the experimental farm in the western part of British Columbia, in the valley of the St. Lawrence, and the Maritime Provinces, is of first-class quality and compares favorably with the best grades of Irish and Belgian fibre. What is more, the results of the experiments show that Canadian fibre is suitable for the manufacture of paper and cloth material. This division has also been in existence six years, but despite the fact that in 1920 the fixing, building, equipment and records were destroyed by fire, it has continued and even extended its efforts.

But if he should be at Mindat during a Burmese or when the Vice-roy is making a visit, he could see the members of the Karen tribes, because during these celebrations, they are brought down from their mountain homes and exhibited as great objects of interest, because they are peculiar.

Annual Camp of Alpine Club

The Main Camp Will be at the Summit of Palliser Pass

The annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada this year will be held from July 21 to August 12 at Palliser and Kananaskis Passes, with Major E. G. Wheeler, of last year's Mount Everest Expedition, in charge of the mountaineering. The main camp will be situated on the summit of Palliser Pass, while a subsidiary camp will be placed near the summit of Kananaskis Pass.

Eighty members of the Alpine Club, including of both Canadian and American members, are expected and visitors from the Alpine Club (England) will be present.

Should Carry the Gun

He was a smart young Canadian salesman and he rather resented the fact that the hotel porter had directed him to the room reserved for members of his profession.

"You're a traveler, aren't you?" said the porter.

"Yes, but what's that got to do with you?"

"I was only wondering what your line was—what you carried."

Seeing an opening for smartness, the young man said: "Oh, it wouldn't interest you—I deal in brains."

"You ought," replied the porter, "to carry samples."

Just One Girl!

A British merchant who has just been the guest of the Sultan of Zanzibar was invited to inspect the harbor. In the garden was a merry-go-round that the Sultan had imported at great expense from the United States. Several of the wives were mounted on the wooden horses, and "There's Only One Girl in the World for Me," was the tune that was being played on the organ.

Fresh Camouflage

It now transpires that Germany didn't intend to pay her war debts even if the Allies loaned Berlin the money for that purpose.

German taxes are only 10 per cent, while those of France are 24 and of Britain 36. Germany's whine of inability to pay reparations is all barnacles of fresh camouflaging.—Star Herald.

DEATH OF FORMER LUNDBRECK, LADY

"Word has just reached us of the death of Mrs. T. Duckworth, which occurred at the Fort Qu'Appelle sanatorium on March the 24th last, following a prolonged illness."

Mrs. Duckworth was formerly Miss

Rosa Paula Banmer, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Banmer, formerly of Lundbreck, and served for a considerable time on the staff of the Blairmore telephone exchange.

The remains were laid to rest at Indian Head, Saskatchewan, on Monday, March 27th.

You would not think of using binder twine to make a fence, or a fiddle string to lace a belt, yet when you use a spurious part in your Ford you are using something still less fit for the purpose.

When making minor repairs yourself demand Genuine Ford Parts — and see that you get them. When more extensive repairs or replacements are needed run your car in here where none but Genuine Ford Parts are ever used.

The Special-Six chassis frame is 7' deep. It tapers from 4' 6" wide at the front to 4' 1" in the rear, so that the sides of the body fit perfectly without overhanging. Extra members prevent the distortion that eventually causes bodies to squeak.

Studebaker bodies are built in Studebaker shops by men, many of whom have been building vehicle bodies for Studebaker for upwards of 30 years — and their fathers before them. Studebaker has been building fine bodies for seventy years.

Studebaker Special-Six bodies, because of their quality and soundness, weigh more than those of other cars around the Special-Six price. You cannot skimp in material and build a body that will not rattle.

Freedom from rattle or squeak is just another of the fine-car refinements that emphasize the extra value of the Studebaker Special-Six.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

Friendship is a great thing, not only to the man who receives it. When a man passes on, his friends and acquaintances are wont to gather around with tear-dimmed eyes and solemn faces, and tell what a splendid fellow Jim was and how much he was loved by all who knew him, and how many were his virtues.

But why didn't they go to him and tell him a few of these things while he walked among men? Why do men wait until we are gone to say good things about us? To the young man with a life time of opportunities opening before him words a "proposition and friendly encouragement" are the most precious jewels. And many an old man, looking back along the road he has traveled, can see many places where the road might have been made easier and smoother if he had received now and then some word of approval or commendation. Such a word at an unexpected moment might have been the means of spurring him on to greater heights of accomplishment and broader fields of endeavor.

We are all of us too prone to withhold the word of friendly praise—to knock and criticize rather than to boost and endorse the actions and motives of others; because it takes courage to go to a man and tell him face to face and man to man, that he deserves praise and approbation—more courage than to tell him he is wrong. Yet this is true friendship.

The world needs friendly people. Do not be meagre with your praise where praise is justly due. It is the word of kindly approval from our fellows that gives us confidence in ourselves and in each other.

The gospel of good-will is a splendid one to pass along. Not tomorrow, after your friend is dead and gone, but today—now. Your word of good-will and friendly endorsement may be all that is needed to kindle the spark of inspiration. This is Friendship, and it makes the world a better and happier place.

THE ONCE OVER

(By H. J. Phillips)

Skirts, it is announced by the Associated Press Industries of America, are moving back to normalcy. The over-exposed era is at an end. Fall and winter dresses will hang no higher than six or eight inches from the ground if the style edict is obeyed.

For the first time in five years or more the citizen who has considered a glass eye a handicap will have no cause for complaint.

The return to non-star styles will be welcomed. Styles had been going from worse to worse until America had become just one vast area of lega.

There was hardly a man in Canada who didn't know every knee in his community by sight.

Knees lost their novelty. For the first three years the male residents of the country became more and more pop-eyed watching the styles pass in review. The uppermost question in the public mind was whether to go to a burlesque show or just stand on a street corner.

No matter whether a man felt, as no matter whether a man felt, ago, that a leg should be referred to delicately as a "limb" and as a part of the anatomy that should be kept from the public eye, he just couldn't help seeing them. Not two or four or six legs, but thousands of 'em! Fat legs, thin legs, medium legs, bow legs, wooden legs, crooked legs, legs with knots on 'em, legs that looked like Harry Lauder's walking sticks, legs that looked like pipe-stems. All very terrible.

When a girl merely stood still she looked improper enough, but when she sat down she became a scandal. Our Best People were photographed on shipboard, at society fetes, etc., in attitudes that would have caused wholesale arrests in 1910. America began to outstrip the world.

And now comes the reaction. Legs have become positively monotonous. The cry is: "Take 'em away!" Long skirts are coming in. They will remain at least long enough for Canada's male population to get back its native sense of curiosity.

After a year or two of long skirts our old friend Ankle may come back into its own. Neglected as wholly unimportant for the past five years it soon may be back in the running again. The day soon may come when a lady crossing a muddy street with her skirts lifted above the tops of her shoes will block traffic.

Knees may become a matter of speculation. Art students once more face the prospect of having to go to an art school to study the anatomy of the human figure.

Flo Zeigfeld and Lee Shubert, who years ago were threatened often with arrest in the era when the Floradora Sextette costumes were considered a hit daring, but who have since gained fame for reducing the American show girl's attire to the minimum, are expressing great satisfaction at the return of long skirts for street wear.

"It is great news to me," said Mr. Zeigfeld. "I could not have held out against the opposition much longer. People who used to attend my shows have been standing on the street corners for some years past. I have tried each year to show my show girls in more daring lack of attire than was shown by the American woman, but it has been a losing game. Every time I'd think I had devised a costume that would cause a sensation I'd step outside and see the street full of housewives in attire twice as shocking. I was about to retire when the new style edict was announced."

We are pleased to note that Miss Henrietta Robbins and Master Wilfrid Dutil were the successful candidates in the Grade XI examinations from the local school.

Hillcrest Happenings

(By our own dear Felix)

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fox are at present enjoying a few days holiday at Lethbridge.

The latest addition to the auto owners is Mr. Stirling Marshall, he just having purchased a new McLaughlin-six.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Blackley and family and our town electrician went on Monday by auto for Banff and other points.

Sam Richards and family have returned after an enjoyable auto trip to Spokane, looking fit and ready for another.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Wariner and Mr. and Mrs. C. Carlson returned a few days ago from a fishing trip at South Fork.

The many friends of Harry Instone will regret to hear of his serious illness. He is at present in the hospital at Lethbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Prescott and Miss Irene Turner returned on Monday after an enjoyable motor tour to Calgary, Banff and Lake Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Royle and family and the Misses Gladys and Olive Howcroft returned on Friday last after a two-weeks' auto tour to Banff and other points.

All motor car owners residing in Hillcrest are advised to look out for posters in the near future, calling a meeting for the purpose of forming an automobile club.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hutchinson and family returned a few days ago after spending several weeks travelling by auto through coast cities. They covered over three thousand miles and had an excellent time.

The football match for the Matz Cup, between Bellevue and Hillcrest, resulted in Bellevue winning by the odd goal—3 to 2. Out of five goals scored three were from penalty kicks. These teams meet again on Saturday at Bellevue to play the replay for the Cooper Cup. It is to be hoped that Hillcrest will reverse the decision.

On Monday an interesting game of football was played at Hillcrest, between the married and single ladies, the result being a tie of 3 each. It was a splendid contest and if some of our male footballers don't look out their place on the team will be lost. The splendid full-back play of Mrs. Salt was a treat to witness. The way Miss Alice Foster runs down the field proclaims her almost an even timer! The hero of the match for the single ladies was Miss Alice Jennings, who scored all the three goals, and it would be well if some of our senior team copied her example in that half a chance at shooting, hang goes the ball towards the net. The ladies of Hillcrest would be pleased to hear from any other camp in The Pass for a series of games.

Just now Hillcrest is in a state of excitement owing to the finding of the body of Sam Gioia, an Italian who has resided in Hillcrest for number of years and was highly respected by all who knew him. The body was found in one of the homes near the Union hotel and the circumstances demanded an investigation through the coroner. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon, the remains being laid to rest in the local cemetery. A large number of people attended, to show their respect. The members of the Italian Masonic Lodge and the I. O. O. F. Lodge attended. Deceased was a member of Corbin I.O.O.F. lodge. The Blairmore band was also in attendance.

Mrs. J. W. Mackay, formerly of Frank, but now conducting the hospital at Clarens, accompanied by a party which included Judge and Mrs. Davidson, of Calgary, stopped off in Blairmore last night as guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Putnam. They are returning from an extended auto trip, in which they visited Glacier Park and other scenic spots. Mrs. Mackay was indeed surprised at the marked changes and rapid growth that has taken place in Blairmore since her last visit here but a few years ago, and her party of guests were more than delighted with their stop there.

J. W. MacDonald, K. C., of MacLeod, was in town on Wednesday to attend the murder inquest at Hillcrest.

Constable A. Reid, of the A. P. P., returned to Vulcan by Tuesday night's train, after a vacation spent in Blairmore.

A baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robertson at Bellevue and Mr. Robertson is yet confined to his bed.

BASEBALL TEAM WIN AND LOSE

Blairmore won the first of the home and home games from Taber last Saturday evening by the close score of 4 to 3. The game was good as the score indicates and it was anybody's game until the last Taber man went down by the strike out route before Pruden. The locals scored one run in the first inning, and Taber came back in the second with and held their lead up until the seventh when Holman got a single, Pruden a two-bagger and Levesque next with a three-bagger which scored Holman and Pruden. Turner then sacrificed and Levesque romped home with the winning run. After that the locals tightened up on everything and held the Taberites from scoring. Pruden, pitching for Blairmore, got into a couple of tight corners—one in the third, when the first man got a single and two men walked, filling the bases with none down. He pulled up, however, and got the next one, two, three, and Taber saw their hopes all dashed to pieces. Tuftefield hurried for the visitors and was also air tight in the pinches. This game was one of the best witnessed here for some time and the locals have a good start now for the amateur laurels of Banff and other points.

Score by innings:

Blairmore 1 0 0 0 0 3 0 3 4

Batteries — Taber—Tuftefield and Harris. Blairmore — Pruden and Brown.

Umpires—L. Morgan and Dorey.

The Blairmore baseball team lost at Taber last night in a rather hard-luck game by a score of 4 to 3. The locals played good ball all the way and the score at the first half of the ninth stood 3-2 in their favor, but it became suddenly dark and they lost. Two men were down and two men on bases with two strikes on the batter, but the next ball was lost in the darkness. Pruden pitched for the locals and Taber only got three hits, while Blairmore got twelve hits off the Taber pitcher, Tuftefield.

By losing this game to Taber, an extra game will now have to be played to decide the winner of the series. We have no word as yet when or where the game will be played.

Quite a number of citizens of Pass towns availed of the Wednesday half holiday to visit the boys' camp at Lee Lake.

P. M. Christopher—M. P. P., has returned from Edmonton, where he attended the special session of the legislature.

Dr. J. Olivier was summoned to attend a wealthy lumber magnate, who had taken suddenly and seriously ill while passing through on Wednesday morning's west-bound train. The doctor accompanied his patient as far as Cranbrook, returning on the evening train.

Mrs. J. W. Mackay, formerly of Frank, but now conducting the hospital at Clarens, accompanied by a party which included Judge and Mrs. Davidson, of Calgary, stopped off in Blairmore last night as guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Putnam. They are returning from an extended auto trip, in which they visited Glacier Park and other scenic spots. Mrs. Mackay was indeed surprised at the marked changes and rapid growth that has taken place in Blairmore since her last visit here but a few years ago, and her party of guests were more than delighted with their stop there.

A baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robertson at Bellevue and Mr. Robertson is yet confined to his bed.

Lively Debate In Alberta Legislature Over The Wheat Bill

Edmonton.—Characterized without hesitation by Hon. J. R. Boyle, Liberal leader, as "the most important piece of legislation enacted by any British Parliament in over 200 years," the Alberta Wheat Board Bill came under conflictive review in the provincial legislature during the course of fairly lively debating. Hon. Mr. Boyle was the only one speaking, however, who did not announce his intention of supporting the measure.

Hon. C. W. Cross, Edison, commanded the Government for the legislation, pledged his support to the bill and wished the administration every success in the venture.

Premier Greenfield defended the bill with vigor as a farmer, who knows the problems which the farmers are facing at the present time," he contended.

Hon. C. R. Mitchell, Bow Valley, admitted he would support the bill, because of the necessity of helping out the farming industry. If possible, but his exposition of the difficulties which will have to be faced in the working out of the wheat board plan was a reminder of the famous second-hand Ford advertisement which pointed out everything imaginable wrong with the car, although "a darned good car for the shape it is."

Mr. Mitchell presented an unexpected aspect of the situation when he protested against the Saskatchewan Legislative passing of the bill and proposed before the Alberta House that it be referred to consider the bill in committee, thereby risking any change in this province impossible, although conditions in the two provinces vary greatly. "For the sake of courtesy, at least, the Alberta Legislature should have had some consideration before the bill became law in Saskatchewan and further alterations in the act made impossible," he said.

At one stage in the debate, after Hon. C. W. Cross had spoken, there was long silence in the House, and the Speaker was on the point of calling for the vote on the question of second reading before one of the Farmer members, M. C. McKennan, Lac St. Anne, saved the situation with a brief speech, in which he mainly criticized the Dominion Wheat Board Act of last session as full of loopholes, and purposefully so, he thought. Mr. Mitchell took the Government forces sharply to task for the silence which they displayed as private members and as farmers in such a far-reaching piece of farming legislation.

Premier Greenfield, in the course of his address, emphatically denied that the Government wanted to "rush" the bill through the House, as might be indicated by night sessions. He was prepared to discuss the legislation "until Christmas if necessary."

Former Turk Minister Assassinated
Title, Royal of Georgia—Djelal Pasha, former minister of marine in the Turkish Unionist Government, chief of staff of the Afghan army, has been assassinated here. Two Armenians are charged with the crime. Djelal Pasha was accompanied by two aides, who were also shot dead. He was traveling to Kabul from Berlin, where he had made important purchases for the Afghan army.

Cottiers Honor Memory of Comrades
New Waterford, N.S.—All the cottiers here were last night and special services were held in St. Agnes Church in memory of more than sixty miners who lost their lives in the New Waterford mine explosion five years ago. July 25, 1917.

Spend Fifty Millions On Canada's Highways In Five Year Period

Ottawa.—Fifty million dollars will have been spent on improving Canada's highways when the five-year period terminates in the fall of 1923, according to reports received by A. W. Campbell, Dominion Commissioner of Highways. Of this total, twenty millions will have been appropriated by the Dominion Government and the remainder by the different provinces. Of the federal sum there is yet $600,000 to be taken up by the provinces.

Agreements have already been entered into by the province of Ontario calling for an expenditure of $13,500,000 by the end of 1923, of which sum five million is the federal share.

To Conserve Coal

Montreal.—It was announced at Grand Trunk Railway headquarters that a temporary reduction was to be made in the number of local trains operated on the system in Canada in order to conserve the reserve stocks of coal, which, owing to the continuance of the miners' strike in the United States, have fallen below normal. Principal main line trains will not be affected, and as far as possible only those whose removal will not injuriously affect commerce will be suspended.

Extend Rural Phones

Providing for Further Phone Construction in Rural Alberta Sections

Edmonton.—Contracts for 1,100 miles of rural telephone line construction have been signed by the provincial telephone department, comprising the second instalment of the Government's programme for the 1922 season. The mileage represented in these contracts, site in number, is spread over all parts of Central and Southern Alberta, and the total expenditure involved will be about $125,000. It is expected that the 1,100 miles of new lines will almost or entirely complete the work to be done this year in the way of rural telephone construction. Some 1,400 miles of similar construction had already been done on previous schemes, for which contracts were given in the early part of the season as the cost of which was about $150,000.

Strike Bargain With Rating Companies

Railroads of Britain Reduce Yearly Expenses by £2,000,000

London.—The railway companies in Great Britain have secured a remarkable bargain from the rating authorities. Pleading serious loss of revenue they persuaded the National Union county assessment committee to make large reductions in the sums demanded from them for taxes.

Every parish through which a rail road passes levies tax rates upon the company on the basis of the assessment, which is broadly determined by the revenue of the company. The reductions granted possibly average 20 per cent., representing an aggregate saving to the railway companies of over £2,000,000 a year.

Grain Shipments for Europe

Fifty Million Bushels Creates New Record for Montreal Port

Montreal.—Figures supplied by the Grain Clearance Board of this port, show that from the opening of navigation to the evening of July 23, almost 50,000,000 bushels of grain were shipped to Europe from Montreal, a performance that creates a new record, exceeding that of last year by nearly two million bushels. The record of last year, when 138,453,860 bushels, or nearly fifty millions more than were shipped from another port on the North American continent, probably will be exceeded this year at the present rate, M. P. Fenell, general manager of the port and chairman of the Grain Clearance Board, said.

Royal Family May Return to Bavaria

Socialists Protest Against Removal of Ban on Exiles

Berlin.—The Bavarian Government issued a decree intended to replace, so far as Bavaria is concerned, the legislation recently passed by the Reichstag for the defence of the republic. The decree omits the clauses relating to the establishment of a special tribunal, the competence of the German minister of the interior to prohibit meetings and suppress associations, and the competence of the Central Government to prohibit members of the former ruling house living abroad from entering Germany. It also declines to allow non-Bavarian police to take independent official action in Bavaria.

The Socialist section of the Bavarian landing has issued a manifesto declaring every attempt to counteract the Reichstag legislation for the defence of the republic is an attack upon the political unity of the nation, while the Bavarian insistence upon special rights in this connection has caused alarm in Northern Bavaria, as well as in Berlin.

Morden Team Wins

Awards Given in Boys' Livestock Judging Competition

Brandon.—The boys' livestock judging competition of the provincial exhibition carrying with it the James McCurdy Memorial Cup, has been won by the Morden, Man., district boys team, with a score of 1,006 points. Elgin was second, two and a half points behind the leaders. Eleven teams competed in the competition, which comprises the judging of heavy beef and dairy cattle, sheep and swine. Each team was allowed twenty minutes to complete the examination of the Milt.

A Holstein cow owned by W. Hepburn, of Virden, Man., has established what is believed to be a record for Manitoba for production. This cow's record for the past year, as shown by a test just completed, totalled 26,013 pounds of milk.

Germans Must Destroy Range Finding "School"

Buildings Established at Strategic Points on Kiel Canal

Paris.—The Council of Ambassadors decided to send a sharp note to the German Government demanding the immediate destruction of the fire control and range finding school, which the German naval authorities have quietly established at strategic points on the Kiel Canal. Allied experts' opinion has declared the school is convertible into a fort commanding the entrance to the canal.

German Land Cargo at Australia
London.—Although the official embargo against importation from former enemy countries to Victoria, Australia, does not expire until August 1, the first consignment of German cargo to reach Australia since 1914 is now being landed. The Victoria Government gave official notification on June 9, that the ban on importations would be lifted on the first of August.

U.S. Ambassador Visits Pope Plus
Rome.—Pope Plus received in private audience Henry Morgenthau, former U.S. ambassador to Turkey, and had a long conversation with him about his experiences at Constantinople during the early days of the war.

DON'T WORRY!
BUSINESS IS GOOD!

Washington.—Negotiations with financial representatives of Great Britain for funding of that country $5,000,000,000 war debt to the U.S. scheduled to begin early in September, may be deferred until the latter part of that month, it has been indicated at the treasury.

Three members of the allied debt funding commission will be taken away from Washington during the first part of September, it was explained.

Mariko is a committed harakiri known in Japan as "happy dispatch," permitted as a means of escaping execution or official disgrace. Any happening which in any way inconveniences any member of the imperial family, is taken as a personal responsibility by whoever is in control of that portion of the royal entourage in which it occurs.

Deny Reports Of Syrian Revolt

Officials Say News of Rioting Was Greatly Exaggerated

Paris.—Reports received from Cairo by way of London that an attack on French troops in Syria and serious rioting followed news of the confirmation of the French mandate for Syria are greatly exaggerated, it was declared in official circles here. Reports that the rioting bordered on revolt were denied.

Cairo.—The Syrian committee here announces that when news that the League of Nations Council had confirmed the French Syrian mandate was received in that country a band of Syrians attacked French troops at Saarun, killing two officers and 17 men, destroyed two tanks and captured a number of prisoners and a quantity of material. The French are reported to have been forced to retreat until reinforcements were hurried from Damascus.

The Syrians also are reported to have brought down a French airplane at Esrah and to have attacked a French outpost at Jaroud, killing 15 Frenchmen. The committee alleges that disorder has broken out in the whole of Syria.

Will Consolidate Soldier Settler Loans

Converted Into One Loan for 25-Year Period

Edmonton, Alta.—Of great importance in the large number of soldier settlers in the west is the announcement that all the loans made by the Government prior to April 1, 1922, will be consolidated into one loan for a period of 25 years. This applies to the debts of the various units of the board named by the Government of which the board will not be subdivided by province.

Mr. Boyle also asked Premier Greenfield to give the House full details of the probable cost of financing the wheat board project, declining to proceed with the debate until such details had been furnished.

The premier read to the House a telegram which he had received from James Stewart, Winnipeg, and concurred in by F. W. Riddell, Regina, to the effect that the operations of the board might involve the credit of the province anywhere from $3,000,000 to $15,000,000. This would, of course, be taken care of by a line of credit established at the banks under guarantee. Mr. Stewart's opinion was that under conservative operation, and following the procedure of the wheat board of 1919, a line of credit of from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 would suffice.

Confidence May Be Colored

London.—Replies to a question in the House of Commons, Lt.-Col. Amery, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, said that, as far as the admiralty knew, there was no aerial plane in any navy capable of sinking a British ship by bomb or torpedo.

Grant Petroleum Rights

Athens.—The Greek Government has granted the Anglo-Persian Oil Company petroleum rights for the whole of Macedonia.

Washington.—Favorable reaction to the United States Government's efforts to stimulate coal production is seen in figures assembled by the railroads showing that 13,982 cars of coal were loaded on Monday at operating mines as compared with 9,860 cars last Saturday and with a daily average of 10,914 cars during the six working days previous to Saturday.

Frank Farrington, Illinois miners' president, rescinded his call for a state convention at Peoria next week to consider a separate agreement.

John L. Lewis, head of the miners' union, said he had "every reason to believe that an Interstate joint conference of the central competitive fields will be arranged within a few days."

Indiana operators would meet with miners' representatives in Indianapolis conference if the operators in other states in the central competitive field would enter the conference.

Immediately after being named chairman of the government's distribution committee, Secretary Hoover, at the request of the president, asked state governors to set up the necessary organization in each state for insuring equitable distribution and the maintenance of fair prices for coal. This organization he said, was to assume responsibility for all distribution within the boundaries of each state except to railroads.

Report of Progressive Liberal Fusion

Much Doubt Is Expressed As To Its Possibility

Ottawa.—Statements published in Quebec that 52 Progressives members of parliament, had announced their willingness to join the Liberal party, are received here with reserve. It is generally understood that those members of the party and its supporters between some Progressive and Liberal looking to closer co-operation, but that there was no agreement reached of any binding character. It is regarded, as well established, there was no offer of "unconditional union" with the Liberal party.

Winnipeg.—"The weather must be pretty hot down there. The whole thing is a dream," said Hon. A. B. Hudson, K.C., member for South Winnipeg, interviewed here in connection with the report that he had been instrumental in converting 52 Progressive members in the federal house, to the Liberal party, and that he would enter the cabinet.

Protest of Veterans

Secretary, by the provincial body here.

Actual Removal Of The Cattle Embargo Only Matter Of Time

London.—The debate in the House of Lords indicates that the peers are inclined to regard the actual removal of the "cattle embargo" against Canadian stock as a matter of time and that strong advocates of the embargo manifested a disposition to accept the situation.

Proceedings were a continuation of the debate started on July 12, when Lord Chaplin presented a resolution urging the maintenance of the embargo and Lord Lincolnsbury moved a resolution demanding the fulfillment of the pledge of 1917 that the embargo would be removed. The weight of the speech of July 12 were decidedly against any change of policy, but sentiment, it was shown, had undergone a remarkable change in the meantime.

Lord Lancaster, who represents the Board of Agriculture in the upper chamber, made it quite plain that he anticipated legislation lifting the embargo and that he was only anxious that their removal of the embargo should be accompanied by certain safeguards.

"I recognize," said Lord Lancaster, "that the tide is against us, and that we have to expect legislation later. I can only hope that if there is a reversal of our present policy the effect may not be as serious as some suppose."

F. WRIGHT, Sec-Treas.

We met a fellow named McInnes and another named McLeod in Cape Breton. We were rather surprised, for naturally we never expected to meet with men so named in that part of Canada.

Tenders for the Erection of Police Headquarters Building at Blairmore, Alberta

Sealed tenders complete in all trades will be received up to twelve o'clock noon, August 15th, 1922.

Plans and specifications with full particulars may be obtained on application to R. P. Blakey, F. R. I. R. A. Provincial Architect, Edmonton, application to be accompanied by a deposit of $25.00, which will be refunded on the return of plans, specifications and bona fide tender.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

(Signed) J. D. ROBERTSON,
Deputy Minister of Public Works.
Dated at Edmonton, this twenty-fourth day of July, A. D. 1922.

"Rail" back first reads 11 a.m.; but rails back first in Newfoundland make an ideal miniature railway.

The Rev. O. R. Lawers, M. A., B. D., has accepted charge of the Presbyterian churches at High River and Nanton.

Miss Gallay, daughter of our local dry goods merchant, H. Gallay, has been engaged to fill one of the vacancies occurring on the Blairmore teaching staff, and will take up her duties in September. Miss Gallay holds first-class qualifications.

In these days of higher skirts we hear very few people clamoring for higher education.

A Mr. Foster has been engaged to fill one of the vacancies occurring on the local teaching staff.

H. D. Gerry, of Cowley, shipped a carload of hogs into Calgary recently, where they reached a good market.

The only excess profits now cluttering up the premises are those who assure us that everything is going to the dogs.

Miss Montalbetti, of Missoula, Montana, is spending a few days here with her father and brother, Joseph and Peter Montalbetti.

Mrs. J. W. Verge is down from Calgary on a visit to her parents; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Patterson, Mr. Verge also spent a few days here.

T. J. Cumberland, of Pincher Creek, has been elected president of the Canadian Postmaster's Association in convention at Vancouver.

The Chautauqua superintendent in Union arranged for a hard-time parade. That's alright, provided the whole procession is composed of poor suckers like gourmands.

The British house of commons has voted by 247 to 171 in favor of removing the embargo on Canadian store cattle, which indicates that the embargo is likely to be removed soon.

Blairmore's baseball stars won out over Fernie at Fernie on Sunday to the tune of 3 to 0. The game was one of the best for years and was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators.

Miss Jessie Sheard, formerly of the Union Bank staff here, is being transferred to a branch of the institution at Calgary, and spent a few days in town last week before proceeding thither.

Dr. Wrigglesworth, past grand of Mount Fernie I.O.O.F. Lodge, died suddenly at Vancouver recently. Dr. Wrigglesworth had practiced dentistry at Fernie for a number of years. He leaves a wife, one son, one daughter and two brothers.

When two girls dressed in good wholesome atmosphere were arrested near a street corner in Detroit, they told the police that they were bound to the lake, but hadn't thought of their bathing suits until they noticed the police on the horizon.

Joseph Thornley, formerly of Coleman and Pincher Creek, and a returned soldier, has been ordered by his doctor, on account of heart trouble, to leave Cranbrook, where he has worked as lino operator for the Herald. He has purchased fruit land near Oliver, B. C., and has moved his family there, where we hope the new climate will prove beneficial to his health.

W. A. Beebe and E. Piccarillo left for Edmonton on Saturday night last, where they conferred with the government in connection with the court house site in Blairmore and the crooked bridge east of town. We understand that as a result of their mission work of straightening the bridge will commence immediately.

A wide awake subscriber called the editor of this family journal at an early hour one morning this week, to ask the difference between a cooncock and a Scotchman. "One you can get a drink out of and the other you can't," went whizzing back over the line, and now we'd like to ask that subscriber, "what's the difference between a lemon and a yellow dog?" but we couldn't beat him on that morning slumber suit, so we'll have to think of another way.—Pincher Creek Echo.

R. E. Donkin is relieving the yard master at Medicine Hat.

Rev. W. T. Young returned Saturday last from a visit to Millar and Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Murphy paid a week-end visit to Lethbridge, returning Sunday morning.

Mrs. Eileen Picard returned Sunday morning from a fortnight's holiday spent at Medicine Hat.

The fish we caught in Newfoundland were good and big. Ask our inside information department.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Belecky and children motored to Fernie on Sunday morning last, where they spent five days.

Coal is usually purchased by the ton, carload or shipload. In the New England States at the present time any householder would be glad of the opportunity of buying a pound of the precious commodity.

As the Western Canada coal miners are thinking seriously of returning to work, the miners of Nova Scotia are thinking just as seriously of taking a holiday. Of course they need the holiday after working so hard to keep the home fires burning while our boys were enjoying a well-earned rest.

We attended Chautauqua in the State of Maine, and had the pleasure of hearing Hon. Charles H. Poole deal with the subject of "Social Redemption." Hon. Poole is extremely popular on the American platform, chiefly because of his smooth-tongued oratory and splendid physique.

W. J. Bartlett returned Sunday morning from the East—unaccompanied again, by gosh! While touring in Eastern Canada he ran across J. A. McDonald and family on a couple of occasions. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald have been enjoying a two month's visit to old friends and haunts in Nova Scotia and will return to the Empire hotel at Coleman in a few weeks.
